

Wiley Article Sharing Guidelines

Sharing your published research is essential to the academic process but it can be a challenge to understand the appropriate methods. This simple chart will help you know how to share your research responsibly.

Note: The final article (version of record) for gold open access articles can be shared at any time as long as Creative Commons license is observed and remains in place

I want to share:	I have:
	Submitted Version	Accepted Version	Final Article (Version of Record)	Wiley Sharing Link
 On a Website <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Personal website • Company or institutional repository • Not-for-profit subject repository 	Can share at any time	Deposit subject to embargo listed on copyright transfer agreement	Private research groups only	Can share at any time
 On a Scholarly Collaboration Network that has signed the STM sharing principles	Can share at any time	Private research groups until embargo passes, then can be publicly posted	Private research groups only	Can share at any time
 On a Scholarly Collaboration Network that has not signed the STM sharing principles	Cannot be shared on these platforms except for agreement by Wiley
 On a Blog	Can share at any time	Cannot be shared	Cannot be shared	Can share at any time
 In an Email to Colleagues	Can share at any time
 Using Social Media	Can share at any time	Cannot be shared	Cannot be shared	Can share at any time
 In Education <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Teaching • Thesis or doctorate submission 	Can be used by faculty as long as reasonable measures taken not to allow open sharing on the internet			Can share at any time
 At a Conference	Can share in the form of a presentation or poster			Can share at any time
 In a Grant Application	Can share at any time

For more details, view Wiley's full article sharing policy.